The "Gay White Way"
of Summertime, if it leads to a successful Summer wardrobe, should be paved with a good measure of sheer white cotton fabrics. With white underneath and white on top one may walk about as "cool as a cucumber" on a sizzling July day, reflecting heat, absorbing none, from one's immaculate surface.

Emanate An Atmosphere of coolness, by being cool yourself. That happy state is best achieved by looking cool. It is retroactive. Surely nothing creates the impression of coolness as effectively as spotless white. So stock your wardrobe full of white frocks, skirts and blouses. It is the essence of femininity, the expression of daintiness. It is universally becoming.

From the Land of the Shamrock comes cool handkerchief linen to be fashioned into blouses and lingerie as dainty as a woman may wish. It is 36 inches wide and is priced $1.09 yd.

A Frock or Two of sheer white voile help to tide one over the hot waves in comparative comfort. A cool, sheer texture, with soft finish that will remain after laundering, is 39 inches wide, 49c yd.

"Ruff Stuff"
such as middies, outing skirts and sports dresses may be white, provided the fabric is sturdy "enuff." For such things we recommend Nurses' Uniform Cloth, an all-cotton fabric with a linen finish. Of course, it may be used for the sort of thing for which it is named as well. 38 inches wide, 49c yd.

Underwearables of "Snowdriit" nainsook can't help but be cool. It is 39 inches wide, priced $3.29 for piece of 10 yards. American longcloth, a sturdier underwear fabric, is 40 inches wide and is priced $3.96 for piece of 10 yards.

Church Council Opposes Shift Of War Taxes
Favors Resolute Use of Graduated Income Levy To Meet Debts in Lieu of Luxury Assessments
Seeks To Aid Workers

Wages, Reckoned in Power To Purchase, Decreasing Steadily, It Is Declared

In a statement yesterday outlining the Protestant Church attitude toward economic and post-war reconstruction problems, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America declares that the Church opposes the effort of organized influences to shift the burden of war debt to the shoulders of the general public; that it favors a resolute use of graduated income and inheritance taxes in lieu of the luxury taxes, against which it sees a revolt now arising, and that the state should "attempt to secure to the worker an income sufficient to maintain his family at a standard of living which the community can afford."

People Not Submissive
"We have come upon times when people are not submissive to injustice or to unnecessary privation and suffering," declares the Church commission. "They are deeply and justly in earnest. If those who are the actual industrial, political and social leaders of the nation will not act upon the principle that the greatest shall be the servant of all, then the people themselves, with indignation and bitterness, are sure to take their own share of the world into their own hands."

Deep Cause of Unrest
"A deep cause of unrest in industry is the denial to labor of a share in industrial management. Laborers must be recognized as being entitled to as much consideration as employers, and their rights must be equally safeguarded. This may be accomplished by assuring the workers as rapidly as it can be done with due consideration to conditions a fair share in control; by opportunity for ownership, with corresponding representation; by a combination of ownership and control in cooperative production."

Actual Wages Decreasing
"Actual wages—that is, wages reckoned in power to purchase commodities—have been decreasing for several years in spite of wage increases. There is urgent need of provision by industry under the guidance of the government for some regular method of adjustment of wages and salaries to the purchasing power of money. High wages are desirable as a general principle. Employers who justify low wages or wage reductions should open their books and submit their figures to public scrutiny, adds the commission. To provide employment for the unemployed, the commission advocates that a nation-wide employment service be maintained, and suggests adoption of a policy of public works and land settlement, a guarded extension of opportunities for social insurance to cover unemployment due to industrial conditions or ill health, and the rehabilitation of industrial cripples under the direction of the state and at the expense of industry. A general policy of vocational training is approved. The council asserts the churches stand for a living wage for industrial women and equal pay for equal work. It urges persons having free capital to invest it in homes for workers. It points to the need of community centers to replace the saloons, and declares that churches should be open seven days in the week.

Vesta Tilley Is Now Lady de Frece
Knighthood Is Conferred on Husband of Music Hall and Vaudeville Star
New York Tribune Foreign Press Service
Sir Walter de Frece, the music hall director, and Lady de Frece, (Miss Vesta Tilley) were at Brighton when the news of the knighthood conferred on Sir Walter for his services to the Ministry of Pensions was made public on Saturday. Congratulations have poured in upon them in telegrams from all parts of the country and abroad, says the London "Daily Mail." The Mayor of Brighton, accompanied by prominent residents, called on them early on Saturday to offer congratulations. At the Brighton Hippodrome, where Sir Walter and Lady de Frece occupied a box in the evening, they had to say a few words in acknowledgment of three rousing cheers from the audience and constant demands for a speech. "I shall always be Vesta Tilley to the public," said Lady de Frece to a "Weekly Dispatch" interviewer. She added: "You can tell the public that I shall not break my stage career at once, but as I have for some time been seriously thinking of retiring I have decided to make a farewell tour of the country. This will start after my usual five

Londoners Are Bewildered By American Slang in Movies
LONDON, June 19.—The English people like American photo-plays, but they do not like the sub-titles when slang is used. A well-known London critic has praised a new American film produced here, but is severe on the captions. He could not understand what a "bonehead" meant, a "boob" was completely beyond him and "bring back the bacon" he considered impossible from any viewpoint. Aside from the word "some," which has been taken up as an adjective by Londoners, Americans in England still have a monopoly of their slang.

Hoover and Others To Continue Food Relief Work Abroad
Organization Formed to Aid European Children: Funds Appropriated by Congress Have Been Used

Herbert Hoover and his associates will not terminate their food relief work with the signing of the peace treaty, but, instead, will devote themselves to the task of restoring and maintaining the health and strength of the underfed children of Europe, according to an announcement yesterday by Edgar Rickard, joint director of the American Relief Administration. Although the funds appropriated by Congress for the use of the American Relief Administration in European food relief have been exhausted, the Administration has decided to maintain its existence as an American charitable organization, as distinct from a government organization for the special purpose of continuing the child relief work in the Baltic states, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Jugoslavia and Armenia.

Renewed War Spirit Urged
Slogan Maker Says Bolshevism Is More Dangerous Than German

Lieutenant J. Henry Smythe, A. R. C., famous as a cheer leader and author of battle cries, returned to New York from overseas yesterday with a plea that war-time patriotism be maintained for the task of reconstruction. "We want to keep up the same kind of a spirit to-day that helped us win the war," said the lieutenant. "Patriotism is needed right now to fight Bolshevism and the radical propaganda here at home that is as dangerous and far more insidious than the Teutonic menace."

No Cheaper Fish Here As Boston Combine Ends
Local Dealers Say Prices Will Come Down When Fleets Are Increased
The breaking up of the combination of fisheries companies in Boston will not affect the fish prices of the New York market, local fish company officials and dealers said yesterday. The charge that the companies deliberately threw back fish to keep demand ahead of supply and the price up was indignantly denied by the local men. They attributed the present high price of fish to the unusual demand for it, both as a food and fertilizer.

Howard Vaughan a Suicide: Cuts Throat in Hospital
Howard Vaughan, thirty-seven years old, a well known builder, of Hempstead, Long Island, killed himself at Peck's Memorial Hospital in Brooklyn yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor. Mr. Vaughan had been at the hospital for about a week, recovering from an attack of appendicitis. Yesterday when he was ready to shave he asked the nurse to get him some warm water. When she returned she found him lying on the floor with his throat cut. No reason for the act is known.

6,847 MEN'S Linen Handkerchiefs At 47c
Regularly would be 59c, 74c, 98c

THIS is the fourth of the series of seven economy sales we are featuring for this, the seventh month—and it's a lucky seven for those who take advantage of the savings offered. These Irish linen handkerchiefs have a history worth the telling. The history had its beginning three thousand miles from 34th Street, in our Belfast office, from which they have just arrived. That accounts for their Irish lineage and their Irish linen-age. The department manager wanted to put them on sale at 49c—thought he could go no lower, but we wanted to include the handkerchief event in the series of seven and he agreed. So we made the price 47c and added seven handkerchiefs to the 6,840 we were going to sell. The mere 2c subtracted from 49c cost us $136.94.

So that the running reader may learn where lie his profits we briefly sketch the selling points of these handkerchiefs—
They are good Irish linen.
They are the odds and ends and overproductions of a large manufacturer.
They are free from all imperfections.
They have hand-embroidered initials which vary in style and size.
They have all letters except Q.
They are plain hemstitched in some cases, corded and hemstitched in others.
They are handkerchiefs any man would be glad to carry.
They vary in size, style and quality but are all worth considerably more than 47c.

Women Will Come!
As in the case of other sales of men's things, a great number of thrifty women will attend and save money for their men folk. When we invite women to this sale, we must know our handkerchiefs are good quality, for we have a keen respect for the discrimination of the women folk. 6,847 handkerchiefs may seem a great number, but the wise man or woman will come early and obtain the pick of the lot. The variety of styles, sizes and qualities demands quick action and also makes it impossible for us to promise to fill mail orders for any one style or size. Watch for the remaining three of the lucky seven!
